Welfare Administration Subsection, Hikarigaoka/
Shakujii/Oizumi Comprehensive Welfare Office

➔ Telephone directory, page 61

Single-parent households or the equivalent are entitled to an allowance. Please note, however, that income restrictions apply. In addition, a child institutionalized in a facility may not be eligible. A parent/guardian raising a child who fulfills any of the following conditions may claim this allowance until the first March 31 after the child reaches eighteen years of age:

1. A child whose parents are divorced
2. A child whose father or mother is deceased
3. A child whose father or mother has abandoned the home for one year or longer
4. A child born out of wedlock
5. A child whose father or mother has been incarcerated for one year or longer
6. A child whose father or mother has a serious disability (Handbook for the Physically Disabled, levels 1 or 2)
7. A child whose father or mother has a court order for DV victims

Monthly allowance amount

¥13,500 per child

Required items and documents for application

1. Financial account with the parent/guardian's name
2. Family register of the parent/guardian and child
3. If the father or mother is disabled, the Handbook for the Physically Disabled or the designated medical diagnosis
4. The parent/guardian's individual number card or documentation showing his/her individual number, and an official personal ID
5. Documentation showing the individual numbers of the spouse and eligible child (a memo is sufficient)

Dependent Child Allowance

Child Allowance Subsection, Child-Raising Support Section
☎ 5984-5824

Welfare Administration Subsection, Hikarigaoka/
Shakujii/Oizumi Comprehensive Welfare Office

➔ Telephone directory, page 61

Single-parent households or the equivalent are entitled to an allowance. Please note, however, that income restrictions apply for the applicant and family members living in the same household. In addition, a child institutionalized in a facility may not be eligible. If the parent/guardian or child receives a public pension, and the pension amount is less than the allowance, the allowance will cover the difference. A parent/guardian raising a child who fulfills any of the following conditions may claim this allowance until the first March 31 after the child reaches eighteen years of age. (This includes a child under twenty years of age with a medium level of disability.)

1. A child whose parents are divorced
2. A child whose father or mother is deceased
3. A child whose father or mother has abandoned the home for one year or longer
4. A child born out of wedlock
5. A child whose father or mother has been incarcerated for one year or longer
6. A child whose father or mother has a serious disability (Handbook for the Physically Disabled, levels 1 or 2)
7. A child whose father or mother has a court order for DV victims

Monthly allowance amount

For the first child

For the entire amount: ¥45,500 per month

For part of the amount: ¥45,490 to ¥10,740 per month

For the second child

For the entire amount: An additional ¥10,750 per month

For part of the amount: An additional ¥10,740 to ¥5,380 per month

For the third and subsequent children per child

For the entire amount: An additional ¥6,450 per month

For part of the amount: An additional ¥6,440 to ¥3,230 per month

Required items and documents for application

1. Financial account with the parent/guardian's name
* Not required if using a public money receiving account
2. Family register of the parent/guardian and child
3. If the father or mother is disabled, the designated medical diagnosis; if he/she has a Handbook for the Physically Disabled, this may be abridged
4. If the parent/guardian or child receives a public pension, then documentation showing the annual amount
5. The parent/guardian's individual number card or documentation showing his/her individual number, and an official personal ID
6. Documentation showing the individual numbers of the spouse, eligible child, and person supporting the child (household members living in the same household) (a memo is sufficient)
